EXECUTIVE RECRUITMENT FOR CO-EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

MISSION

Strategic Concepts in Organizing and Policy Education (SCOPE) builds grassroots power to create social and economic justice for low-income, immigrant, woman, femme, black, and brown communities in Los Angeles. To do this, SCOPE organizes communities, develops leaders, collaborates through strategic alliances, builds capacity through training programs, and educates South L.A.'s residents to have an active role in shaping policies that affect the quality of life in our region. SCOPE's core values are: Justice, respect, responsibility, integrity, and voice.

HISTORY

Thirty years ago, Los Angeles erupted into violence hours after police officers were acquitted of brutally beating Rodney King, an event that was captured on video and spread across media outlets. The image of the assault, as well as a city on fire, caught the world's attention. But the tragic moment didn't tell the world about the decades that preceded it—decades of disinvestment and neglect—which left South LA's families feeling powerless, without a voice in government or much hope for the future.

Action for Grassroots Empowerment and Neighborhood Development Alternatives (AGENDA) emerged as a vehicle for rethinking the very concept of community organizing from the ground up. With a history of solving problems in South LA—from health inequities to lack of economic opportunities—AGENDA's founders were guided by the following principles: The terms of the debate around social justice had to be reframed, with those locked out of decision-making now sitting at the head of the table. And the project for change had to appeal to a wide range of people with different single-issue agendas so that the community could pool its power.

As AGENDA began to partner with other community groups, it continually broadened, first into the Los Angeles Metropolitan Alliance, and eventually SCOPE. With an even wider regional focus, SCOPE aimed to attack the root causes of injustice by creating opportunities for low-income people of color to act as leaders who push for real change. Almost thirty years later, that vision is still reflected in SCOPE's work.

- Membership and leadership development programs that give residents of South LA the skills to become politically active agents who shape decision-making.
- Strategic alliances with academia, labor unions, and other community organizations that allow SCOPE to leverage power and take advantage of what they have in common.
- Groundbreaking campaigns to promote proactive agendas for workforce development through policy recommendations that come from the community.
- Voter engagement strategies that create an informed constituency who participate in local elections and understand their civic rights and responsibilities.

Through this comprehensive approach to building power and strengthening the presence of working people in the political process, SCOPE has energized activists, city officials, neighbors, and students to be proactive, not reactive, and forward thinking, with one eye always focused on the causes of unemployment and poverty so that we can move toward equality, integrity, and a quality of life in South LA its residents deserve.

SCOPE'S NEW LEADERSHIP MODEL:

SCOPE has announced a new leadership model that allows them to better represent all of South Los Angeles. Gloria Medina has officially been named as one of two Co-Executive Directors. This is an exciting moment for the organization.

Moving forward, SCOPE will be led by two Co-executive directors who will bring the experience, knowledge, and skills necessary to effectively work to empower Black and Brown communities in South LA.

This new model allows SCOPE to meet the growing demands of leading a complex community-centered organization. It is extremely difficult for one leader to do it all – oversee programs, manage staff, serve as a spokesperson, interface with funders, engage community members, and oversee the operational and financial health of the organization. Having two capable leaders that can collectively provide a wide range of skills and manage these key responsibilities will enable SCOPE to be a more valuable partner/resource and build capacity.

SOLIDARITY & BUILDING COLLECTIVE POWER OF BLACK AND BROWN FAMILIES

Our solidarity is a crucial part of our ability to make an impact in our community

- Together, SCOPE will continue to lead grassroots efforts in South Los Angeles on voter engagement, access to health care, economic justice and more. SCOPE thrives when they communicate and engage with each others on our shared vision of a more equitable South Los Angeles for all of our families. For nearly three decades, our staff and grassroots members have been organizing and mobilizing communities to improve the quality of life in South LA by lifting our voices into a strong movement for economic and racial justice by building a powerful grassroots base.
- SCOPE has built Black and Brown power together, not through competition, but in solidarity. We acknowledge that our work isn't about any one of us, but about our mission of supporting South Los Angeles families and children. SCOPE has built a strong, dedicated base of grassroots leaders who are committed to continue the fight for equity. SCOPE believes that communities most impacted by social inequities must be at the forefront of the movement forging community-led solutions.
